-Doug McLeester, Head of Distribution/Supply Chain, North America

Anyone who wants to know how they can advance or what they should be doing (work wise) would benefit greatly from working with Linda." - Blaire Galaton, B101 Morning Show

"Working with Linda Sommer has made me more confident and trusting in my obvious strengths, and uncovered many dormant strengths that can help me reach my goals more quickly and easily." - Dom DiJulia, One of Golf Magazine's "Top 100 Teachers in America"

From the Author "My years of coaching executives and professionals at the highest levels in the fields of finance, technology, marketing, entertainment, business, education, law and medicine have taught me that positioning is the #1 blind spot--and that this material is priceless. In the end, business is about relationships with other people, and your success will be determined by how well you build and maintain rapport with others. I know from experience that understanding the positioning styles of Power, Affiliation & Achievement will empower you to make the most of yourself and your talents--and give you the leverage you need for success."
